Working Prototype Known Problems Report

1. Since the backend and the frontend are hosted on two different machines and different ports, you will need to enable cross-origin resource sharing in your browser to allow REST API calls from our frontend. This problem affects all places in the project that accesses our Django backend through REST APIs. A solution to this problem would be to allow CORS on both our React frontend and Django backend or to have our users download a plugin to allow CORS.
2. We have unfinished links in our event page and our vault page that you can click on, but won't take you anywhere. A solution to this problem is to link the social media posts and events to the websites in which they originate and to do the same with the vault page.
